In Appreciation

Peter Tierney

Marie Holt

The words devotion, spirit, character, and leadership can only remind the Class of 1988 of two very special people. They are our class advisors, Mr. Peter Tierney and Mrs. Marie Holt. They handled their positions with sincerity and utmost interest. Although their ideas and suggestions were not always met with enthusiasm or cooperation, they still held firm to their beliefs. Mr. Tierney and Mrs. Holt did their best to recognize each member of the class as individuals rather than simply the Class of '88. Their leadership qualities were shown on a daily basis by reminding us to fufil our obligations as students. With their combined determination, Mr. Tierney and Mrs. Holt supported our class to make such events as the Junior Prom a reality (a more difficult task than it sounds). Now that the Class of 1988 is preparing themselves for life after high school, it is important not to forget the people who have brought us this far: a kind man with an adolescent sense of humor and a friendly woman with her warm smile and courteous attention. The Class of 1988 presents this yearbook with sincere appreciation for the combined efforts of Mr. Tierney and Mrs. Holt in all that they've done . . . both as great advisors and as great people.

Dedication

John Walker

The class of 1988 dedicates this yearbook to a man who possesses all the qualities of a true leader and also devotes so much of himself to his students and faculty. Maybe this is why he is the principal of LHS. Mr. John Walker is a believer in stern discipline, although his character and sense of humor tend to mislead some people. Even though his work load is often long and tedious, Mr. Walker still finds a way to spend time each day with his students. He often leaves his office to sit in on classes or to walk throughout the school, absorbing the true atmosphere of student life. He has even helped by collecting lunch money in the cafeteria because the staff was in need of help! Not only has Mr. Walker shown devotion to the entire student body, he has also demonstrated a special commitment to the senior class of 1988. For example, when our class went into debt, he was there to help us become financially secure. For this, we are truly grateful. The class of 1988 extends a very special "thank-you" to you, Mr. Walker, for all that you've done, and we hope that you enjoy this yearbook, dedicated to you.

SPIRIT

A pom-pom gold with excite, shows promise and hope for sure,
encouragement lasts many flights, whether result is refuted or pleasure.

A blue locker contains lore, spirit spread through space,
treasure chest opens store,
for all in every place.

Look upon blue and gold,
colors sacred and true,
for when you think of the good ole days, they'll always seem brighter and true.

GOLDEN EIGHTY-EIGHT

GRADES BEHIND US,
ON THE THRESHOLD OF TOMORROW,
LIKE KITES WITHOUT STRINGS, DREAMS BECOME REALITY.
EVERLASTING MEMORIES FILL MORE THAN JUST THE HALLWAYS; NEXT YEAR'S CLASS WILL COME, BUT IT WON'T BE THE SAME.

EVERYONE SEEMS TO BE RUNNING,
IN SEARCH OF THEMSELVES.
GRASPING THE REAL WORLD SEEMS SO DIFFICULT.
HAVING THE FOUNDATION OF OUR KNOWLEDGE, TOMORROW DOESN'T HOLD AS MANY SURPRISES, AND YESTERDAY DOESN'T SEEM SO BAD.

EVERYTHING'S US NOW AS TIME CONTINUES;
INTERNAL FEARS FILL THE AIR.
GRADUATING AT LAST,
HIGH SCHOOL SLOWLY LEAVES THE PICTURE, TIME WON'T LET US FORGET . . . EVER.

Treasures From Afar

Jag skulle vilja tacka mina foraldrar for all hjalp sa jag kunde aka over till USA och min kusin Jorgen for allt rollspelande.

Hi Everybody
How GREAT it has been to be here in the Senior class at LHS! I really wish I could be here longer. I will, for sure, come back and visit, and I hope you will come and visit me in Norway! Feg tar sende en hilsen til dere hjemme i Norge ogsa! Takk tor alle brevene. Haper dere har det like TOPP som jeg. Hva skulle vi gjort uten teleton, Hege? It has been fun playing field hockey and basketball with you! Washington D.C., Florida, Lake Placid were GREAT! Thanx again for being friends, I wish you all good luck in the future!

Den 28 aug-87 var den mesta dagen i mitt liv: mest nervosa, forvantansfulla, trottsamma, ledsamma (att lamma familj och vanner hemma), och mest spannande. Det har aret har varit det mesata aret i mitt liv: mest fortgueude, larorika, gladjerika (att lora kanna min andra familj och nya vanner). Jag onskar att det har aret inte skeulle maste sluta i en till mesta dag, en mesta ledsam dag, att bekova lamna min familj och mina vanner har. Hoppas att jag far mojlighet att atervanda. Thanks to all of of you who made this possible for me.

Congratulations, Mitch! Good luck and the best of everything! Love, Mom, Dad, #80, and #20.

To the Parents of the Class of 1988

A very special and warm "thank you" is necessary at this point in our lives. As we round the corner to young adulthood, the guidance we have received during our early years has helped to shape us into the responsible young men and women of future society. All the special times of joy and recognition have given us the confidence to strive for the highest of goals. We have been blessed by caring parents and other family members who we someday hope to make as proud of us as we are of them. They have given us love and care throughout the good times and the bad, sharing our happiness and giving us a shoulder to cry on whenever necessary. Whether we need a boost in academics, athletics, music, or any other extra-curricular activities, we always seem to receive the support we need. These loving bonds we have made in our families will last forever. The senior class wishes to give the most grateful thank you for always caring and being there when we need you. We love you!

THE WEDDING

Melissa Beebe and Richard Crory, Lisa Braga and Fred Lombardo, Elizabeth Ellis and Peter Gravelle, Laurie Litchenberg and Jeffrey Koisorek, Kerry Monahan and David Lizotte, Julie Mull and Jerry Schiavo, Kristen Pickard and Paul White, were all married at a "simulated" marriage ceremony at the Littleton High School, Friday, January 29, 1988. The celebrants, Cheryl Marshall and Mitchell Pindara, donned in their long blue cloaks, each shared the responsibility of marrying the brides and grooms. A trade of vows and an exchange of rings capped the festivities of the ceremony on stage as a flute interlude and trumpet chorus festively ended the spectacle. At the reception, cake and punch were served, and congratulations were spread all round.

I, Paul White, leave Mr. Michaud all the bombs which I couldn't get to work.
I, Sharon Woodbine, leave Rachel Hovasse all my undone homework.
I, Tara Woodbine, leave Megan one more year at LHS and knowing what bye-bye means!
I, Charles C. Wright, Jr., leave my brother a new sense of humor and Mrs. Clark my brother.

UNDERCL

The Junior class of '89 is fortunate to have all types of kids who have a lot of spirit and who all get along really well. We remember all the football games where we froze and basketball games where we screamed as loud as we could. We will always remember going to Thompson's Island for Nature's Classroom and we'll never forget when Steph's mother went to Florida - party for a month. Ce n'est pas juste that we never won a pep rally although we had a lot of fun trying. We now know that "if we want to clown around we should go join the circus." We will remember the Winter Cotillions in '86 and '87 and when everyone got their licenses, finally. We'll remember our little field days in freshman year and the half-day parties at Kelly's (What happened to Andrea?) We remember the snowball fight at May's at the Rat Pack and our summer at Newfound Lake. It's straight forward and simple minded. Stand by Me and Top Gun are the Movies we'll remember while we'll never forget Mr. Gates' very strange English class, how could we? Finally, we will never forget LHS and the friends we've made and will still continue to make.

The class of '90 have been through some good times. Although we have two more years to look forward to, we can not help but remember the time when the lights went out during lunch, "FOOD FIGHT!" or Nat's eighth grade party that turned into mud mania. We also had our share of bad times, . like at our Sophomore class meeting with the first three rows getting sprayed. We also could not say V-I-C-T-O-R-Y. At least we did one thing right. We pulled together and won the hall decorating competition which was an accomplishment in itself. Since we did not have a advisor last year, we would like to thank Mrs. Leonard for being our advisor this year, and for being extremely helpful to us. Oh, and Rick, whatever happened to that bat?!

When you're a Freshman, there isn't much to remember, but a few things come to mind when "good times" are mentioned. Places like Nature's Classroom, the eighth grade class trip at Canobie Lake Park, and Hampton Beach (for people who were there) will be remembered for years to come. Days such as April Fool's Day when we stole Mrs. Sherman's desk, Shadow Day, our first taste of the high school, and our first day at Littleton High will stand out in our minds. Still, we can never forget the people who left us, especially Mrs. Robinson and Stephanie Shepple, and then there are the teachers who we left behind that we appreciate. Here at the high school, mistakes like saying our Freshman battle cry wrong and having no class advisor will only haunt us until September 1988 when we'll be Sophomores and have our Freshman year to cherish.

Social Studies Club

The Social Studies Club, led by Mr. John Foley, was organized at the end of the 1986-87 school year. The purposes of the club are simple. We share our common interests outside the classroom. We find a few minutes at the end of a busy school day to follow up our interests in geography, history, anthropology, economics, psychology, and sociology. The club, available to all students, has achieved a high status through its usefulness and cultural strong points. Accumulated material from past years always is supplemental and helpful in gaining higher knowledge. A zoned off section of the library is set aside for studies in current major fields involving pertinent information. As of September, the club began a "log" which records at least one short historical account of a major happening during each month. Scholastic awards and who received them, popular song and movie are also noted. This log provides tomorrow's children with a better understanding of today. The Social Studies Club is noted for its invaluable achievements for a better understanding of the world we live in, today and tomorrow.

OUTDOOR CLUB

The Outdoor Club is jumping in with for the first time ever at LHS. The club, organized by Mrs. Selman and Mr. Fitzpatrick, is designated to increase students' familiarity with the outside world and to boost personal confidence. Activities include two cross country ski trips, one overnight and one afternoon, and a trip to view hang-gliding. Confidence is being built in each of the members of the Outdoor Club with the famous "trust fall." With these activities in mind, the students hope to develop a stronger interest in the physical self, and increased agility and coordination.

BUSINESS CLUB

The Littleton High School Business Club involves advisors, typing teacher Mrs. Joan Shea, and business/typing teacher Mr. Paul Rochelau, and approximately twenty-six students. In their second year, the Business Club wanted to strengthen the confidence of young men and women in themselves and their work. These new attributes would create more interest and understanding in their choice of a business vocation. Participation in worthy undertakings for the improvement of business and community, cooperative efforts, and encouragement in improvement in scholarship and promotion of school loyalty were all among top priorities to the advisors' vision of a high achieving club. Among their activities throughout the year, there was a guest speaker in November, an on-going fundraiser, and a club sponsored field trip in December. During Christmas time, they made a donation to a commmunity agency. In April, the group planned a luncheon for all the secretaries throughout the school system during "Secretary Appreciation Week." The Business Club has provided LHS students a great opportunity to gain interest and a worthwhile education in a growing field which will surely be valuable in the not-so-distant future.

The first meeting of this organization saw amazing interest by one-seventh of the school population. Mathematics teacher, Mrs. Katy Selman, advisor to the organization, hoped to accomplish the many set goals in the past year. In the hope of avoiding any dangerous circumstances, a fun activity was substituted for the "After-Prom Bash." A peer affected by drinking and driving spoke at an assembly attended by the student body. The group also distributed contracts for life. These documents state that if a student is ever in a condition unworthy of driving, the sober parent will come get their son or daughter. The establishment of a peer leadership group in both the high and middle schools topped the group's list of high first year accomplishments.

Holiday, exchange, community, and school concerts are typical caliber events the high school band has performed the past year. Active in competitions such as North East District and Wachusett League, the Marching Band provides a special outlet for uniquely talented students in the art of music. Football games braved in bone-chilling temperatures and courtside basketball games are all among popular sporting events attended by the Band. President, Tim Bradbury, Secretary, Kristin Rakip, Treasurer, Anna Marie Blinn, and Band Manager, Jay Littlefield, were elected.

STUDENT

Student Council

Student Council, headed by U.S. history teacher Mr. Frank Annaldo, is democratically formed through elections by student peers in each of the four classes. The group voices, listens, and discusses topical issues and opinions made by other classmates. Thus, the group ultimately provides a better standard of school life for the students who reside here. The council helps to organize dances, spirit week, and enhance social issues throughout the curriculum. The group also helps other organizations within the school itself, such as providing monies for band necessities, and championship flags in the gymnasium. As for staff support, the principal and superintendent make statements candidly over issues, and willingly discuss matters openly with the council and student body. The Student Council is becoming more involved in student government activities by improving or disbanding certain disciplinary rules, revising the student handbook, and giving certain privileges to specific groups or classes within the school itself, such as providing monies for band necessities, and championship flags in the gymnasium. ANNIE AND FIDDLER ON THE ROOF

On the nights of March 26, 27, and 28, 1987, the hit Broadway musical "Annie" was performed in the LHS auditorium by the Middle School and LHS Drama club. Director Jane Granata and music director Leo Foley were ecstatic at the three sell-out nights which earned standing ovations from the audience after each performance. Mr. Foley adds that to his surprise "nearly all of the cast had no former musical training; however, all of the members came off very well - everyone was so talented and did a super job!"

Three of this year's graduating seniors acted in both major and minor rolls. These people are:

Jessica H. Tweety as Miss Hannigan
Jay Littlefield as Rooster and Suzann Barbella as Orphan Duffy.

Michelle Gallant also added her talents behind stage at the lighting board.

The six months of auditions, rehearsals and the final two-night dress rehersal paid off for the cast, crew, and professional orchestra who were all part of the success.

Fiddler on The Roof was also a great sucess the year before.

Yearbook Staff

During the first weeks of October, Mrs. Regina Chaple and Miss Mary Lou Lordan took on the tremendous responsibilty as yearbook advisors, organizing one of the most unique yearbook staffs ever. Although extremely limited in help and support, the yearbook staff pushed itself day in and day out to accomplish their ultimate goal. If it were not for the efforts of certain individuals, this book would not have been possible. Through this experience, we all have come to learn that the process in making a yearbook involves more than we all thought. Learning lay-out procedures and copy formats aren't half as fun as having overnight yearbook parties to make our deadlines.

Every yearbook needs someone to take a strong hold and organize the staff to make the collection of pages successful. Terri is the one who really pulled this entire project together well enough to fit in between two covers. Her dedication and determination have made this yearbook. All of us on the staff thank you Terri . . . we couldn't have done it without you.

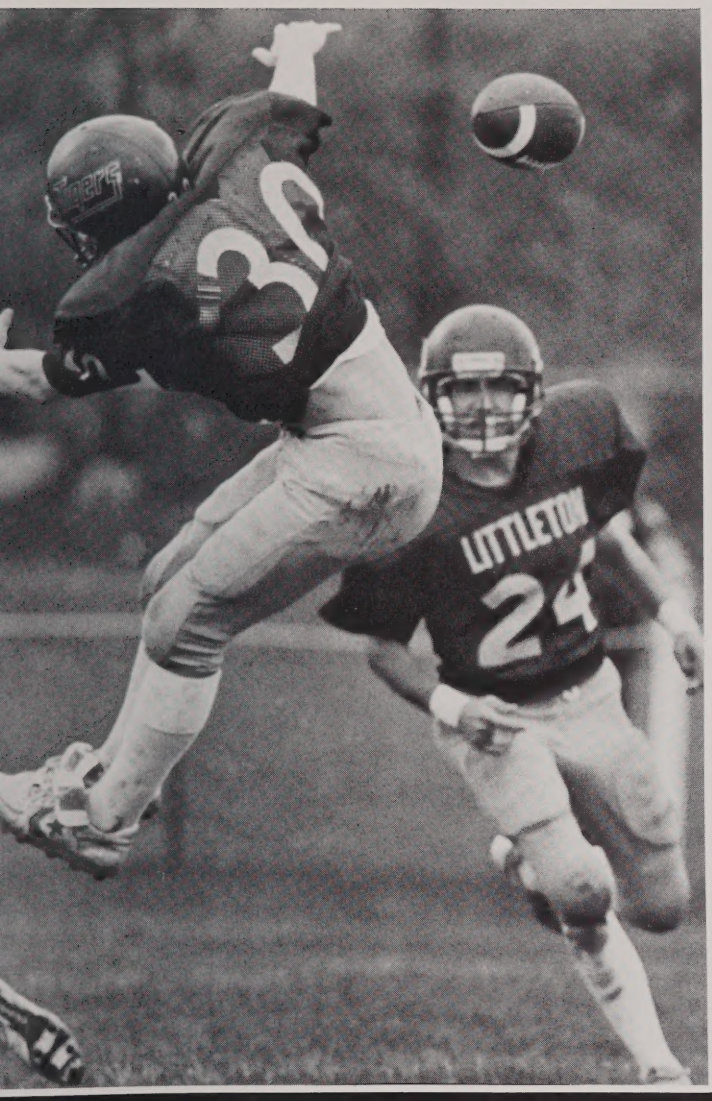
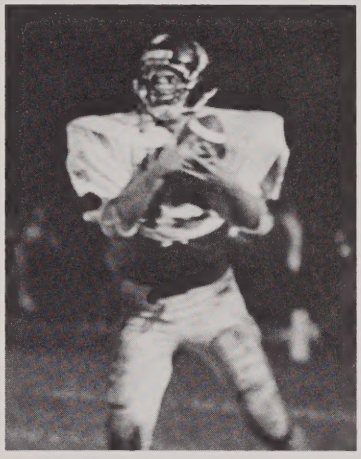
FOOTBALL FOOTB





The Littleton Football team had a frustrating season in 1987. With a final record of 1-9, the Tigers were dealt a disappointing finish. This is not to say that the Tigers had no fine games, however. With the sure arm and quick feet of senior quarterback Dick Crory and a host of sure-handed receivers, the Tigers were always a threat. One of the aforementioned receivers, was senior Mike Lynn. When Lynn burst from the line of scrimmage, he always drew tight coverage. This often allowed seniors Mitch Pindara and Rick Rivera open area to haul in passes. Defense was always regarded as a tough, yet integral part of the game. While seniors Cam Davis and Gus Zeissig prowled the field protecting against the pass, seniors Ben Anderson, Don Lawrence, and Gene Abbott stuffed runs through the line. Also, underclassmen showed their stuff in 1987. Promising up & comers include: juniors Ron Farrar, Jeff Pattterson, Donald Partridge, and Sean Kenney; sophomore: "T.C." Bailey; and freshman sensation Bryan Truscott. Thanks for the memories in '87.

BOY'S SOCCER BOY'S

Littleton's final varsity soccer record was 5-10-1 for a fourth place finish in the powerful Waschusett League.

Coach Cliff Ryding did an excellent job teaching and coaching team with not as much skill as many other teams but a great deal of heart. The Tigers placed two players on the Wachusett League All-Star team in sophomore goalie sensation Matt McWilliams and senior attacker David Plaue. Next years Varsity team should fair quite well, returning 8 starters and 8 seniors.

GIRL'S SOCCER

Even though the record was 2-12-3, Littleton Girls Soccer proved to be a match for any team. There were many highlights throughout the season: scoring against Nashoba (a rare feat for any team), losing by only 2-0 to the division I Acton-Boxborough, only losing to Weston 1-0, and most of all showing that Littleton can compete on a high level of play. We were proud of how we played and next year we are sure that the record will show how good a team we really are!

Littleton High School field hockey has always been something the school can be proud of and this season was no exception. Although our record did not show it, we succeeded in reaching all of our goals. The team was a small and young one, having only two substitutes and only two returning starters. We ended the season with a 6-8-2 record; this did not show what we achieved. All the contests in which we lost were all decided by only one goal. As the season progressed we also grew to become a strong team on and off the field. We wish next year's team the best of luck and the graduating seniors all the success and happiness.

Cheerleading reflects the dedication and school spirit of the students at Littleton High. The girls' ability to pep-up a crowd of sports fans and cheer on their team with shining smiles, truly shows how "Golden" they can be. This year, in particular, has been a difficult year for L.H.S. cheerleading. Becuase it is now considered a sport, the girls' interest to be cheering has been tested and their priorities have been set. By continuing their clapping, shouting, and peppy spirits, they have proven that if they set their minds on something, they can achieve anything they want.

VARSITY

John Warden has been one of the great inspirational leaders in Littleton Sports history. His positive attitude in athletics and in life in general reached everyone with whom he came in contact. As a coach, he invested endless time and effort into the Littleton basketball program. Coach Warden's dynamic personality gave him the special ability to teach and coach a team to great success.

During the fall of '87 Coach John Warden held a special team meeting. Warden regretted to inform us of his resignation from his coaching position. Every heart in the room sunk. Some fought to hold back tears. He had always been such a positive influence on us. He encouraged us to stick together and not let his absence affect our playing this season. He confidently assured the team that he knew we would continue to work hard and strive to be the best in everything we do. He unselfishly stated that he believes: "Great players make great coaches, not great coaches make great players." Not taking the credit for the team's success is a perfect example of the kind of man Coach Warden is.

In John Warden's three years as the head coach of the Littleton Varsity Basketball team, he turned winning into a Littleton tradition. He took a group of players with potential and molded them into a team of overachievers. With hard work and a flare for success, Warden led the Tigers to the Central Massachusetts Division III E Championships each of his 3 seasons. Victorious in the Championship game in his last two seasons, the Tigers advanced all the way to the State semi-finals. In his final year, Warden also coached the Tigers to their first ever Wachusett League Title as co-champions. For his superior efforts, Warden was honored as the Lowell Area Coach-of-the-year in 1985-86 and then as the Lowell Sun Coach-of-the-year during the following 1986-87 season, posting 16-6 and 19-5 records, respectively.

Beyond recognizing John Warden for his victories and success, LHS is proud of this man who set high standards for the people around him. His devotion to the game and his players was inspirational. A fierce competitor on the court but a gentleman off, John Warden earned himself respect from his players, opponents, and everyone around him. We wish this special man all the luck and success in the future. Littleton will not soon forget the pride and memories he brought to this town.

The boys' basketball team was certainly not hampered by a new coach. The team was not as successful as in previous years but remained strong in the League. The loss of ten seniors and one very well liked coach caused some disappointment, but Coach Tom Gallagher brought the team together. Their record now stands at 8-10 with two games left.

For the first time in a while the LHS girls basketball team actually played some quality games. Though the record of 5-11 doesn't show such an awesome season, the team was definitely improved. Coach John Shepple, in his first year, wished to do better but was pleased with the efforts he received.

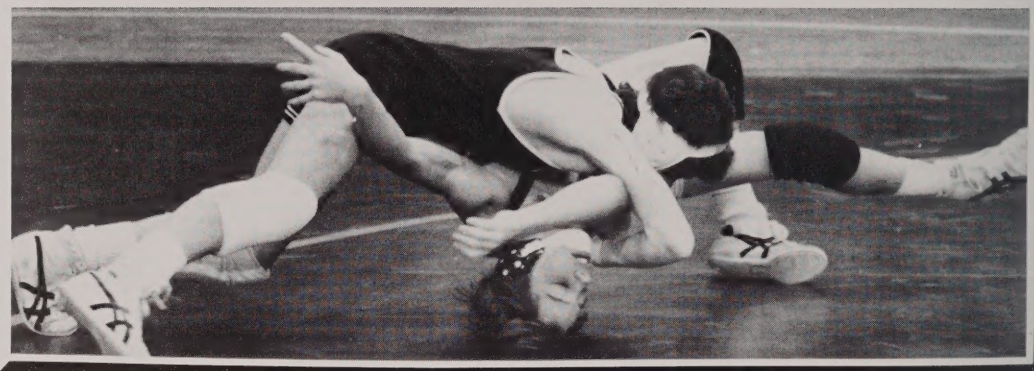
WRESTLING WR



The 1988 Littleton High School wrestling season was a promising one. Although the team lacked in number, they were able to improve their record by more than 200%. Newcomers Kenji Takahashi, Chris Ellingboe, Steve Partridge, and Derek Cannistraro proved themselves to be quick learners as each of them showed great improvement. These individuals are the promise of the years to come. T. C. Bailey returned for his second year to show his wrestling strength once again in a commendable year. The Seniors also played significant roles in the success of the team. Mitch Pindara, Ed Chernosky, Kevin McConnell, and Jeff Davis all wrestled extremely well and helped carry the team to a very satisfying year.

A Year In Review: 1987

The year 1987 was a time of scandal and greed in the news.
It transcended from Tammy's smeared blush,
to Jimmy's fling in the bush, and left them high and dry on the sands of Malibu.

Good ole Ollie, who, knock on wood,
Never answered a simple "No," but reasoned and answered as best could,
"Council, (I,) I just do not know . . . "

Poindexter was next to hear,
his lawyers not as expensive as Ollie's, sat the whole time with 'dexter's mouth in his ear, wondering why he didn't take the case with the trigger-happy killer on the subway.

New Age Religion was the newly discovered cure-all,
A different channel popped up, as quickly as profitable, Shirley MacLaine became the miner of spiritual crystal, as channel language increased to become totally incomprehensible.

Woody Allen spoke out against the colorization of black and white films, Jimmy Stewart and others would also be victims of this freak lot, Turner broadcasting, the heartless computerized robots on a whim, wanted to change these pieces of lifelong achievements, something they didn't know about called art.

Gorbachev came over,
signed the INF treaty and had plenty of toast, talked with the common people in the streets,
maybe more than with Reagan, his host.

The "America's Cup" comes back, Dennis Conner wins it with all his crew,
the Australians are left wondering,
as Conner digs out another winning piece of gum to chew.

Eddie Murphy gets "Raw" about the facts of life, Michael Jackson rolls out of his oxygen tent to sing "Bad," while Johnny Carson marries yet another wife, and "Ishtar" is left with a mouth full of sand.

"Good Morning Vietnam" from an energetic guy named Robin, Nancy advises from her heart to "Just Say No,"
as Encyclopedia Britannica is the source of a departure speech by Joe Biden, Reagan still doesn't know what he's supposed to know.

"I'm in the race,"
Then, Hart rocks the Monkey Business with a sexy gal named Rice,
"No, not now I'm not,"
Donna drops her "No Excuses" britches.
Hart reconsiders the huge debt he's got,
"Let the voters decide, because I'm back in it," claiming he won't be the first President adulterer while, frankly, I think he's full of it.

It's the year of the condom,
Reagan's son Ron makes a plug on national t.v., their stocks reach an all time high in income, while teens wish they came with a 270-day warranty.

Judge Bork, once an "experimenter," you know, the guy with the pompadour beard, tries to find an 800 number for his clients to call,
as Reagan finds another judge who won't clear.

A treaty is signed with Canada, everything we have we'll send up free trade is the bottom line, in exchange we'll get mocassins and syrup (for them, close friends are hard to find).

October 19th,
The stock market drops,
making investors wonder,
and plastic turn to the value of water or a box of freshly shredded hops.

A year which started off with a bang,
Then, just when we thought the bad news was all over,
breathing a sigh of relief
it ended up lasting one second longer.

Valentine's Day

Red, red and more red! Beautiful smiles expressing joy fill the hallways. Students proudly present their carnations exchanged in the annual Sophmore Carnation Sale. The red flowers symbolizing love, pink showing affection, and the white ones are a statement of friendship. Valentine's Day 1988, a special day in a very special way.

Well, this is it. After thirteen years, we are finally going to graduate. Our class has been through so much as friends, how will we ever make it without each other? I know that each one of you will be the best at whatever you put your mind to. College for some and the real world for others, both are giant steps in our lives. Everyone needs a helping hand once in a while and I know that this class will always be around to fall back on. New memories will be made but the soon to be "good old days" will always be here for laughs. I will always think of the Class of "88" as the best class ever. I wish you the best of luck and will miss you all.

Love and thanks,
Terri Shepple

Never-Ending Cycle

A forest of immature trees,
Green leaves, sap through veins endure, basking in the sun, the wind breathes,
as they wave in free splendor.

Dark reds and yellows,
through experience and pain, their characteristics expand, branches stretch both high and low,
their goals become self-planned.

The wind blows hard,
Forms stripped to bark, feelings truly loathed,
Snow covers completely, their strengths exposed,
some will fall and uproot,
as the others continue for a seasonal repose.

Blue water flows down pavement,
Sunshine brightens all in need,
Trees covered in green compliment,
As another forest starts by seed.
